

Greetings and Salutations,

If you're reading this particular instance of my resume, you've already traveled quite a way through the depths of my mind. Thank you.

Maybe you're genuinely hoping to be cryogenically frozen. If so, I am sorry to disappoint, but CryoNow™ is a fabrication. It's probably for the best---the grass is always greener in the other timeline. I hope you'll seek and find contentment in the present. It's the only moment that exists. (If that doesn't work, maybe someone will build CryoLater™ just for you!)

The most likely scenario is that you followed a link directly to this page because my application came across your desk. If so, thank you for reading! I'd love to talk to you about the ways my diverse background has prepared me for success at your company.

Or perhaps you just enjoyed the content. This resume is a shameless plug because I hope to find employment creating content for other products, real or imaginary. But more than that, I hope that you, dear reader, can forgive this moment of self-promotion. (Unless you're an agent or publisher, in which case I rescind my apology and extend my gratitude. Let's talk about why The DeMarrais Cluster is right for you.)

Chris Robinson

Chris Robinson

Contact

Nope Street
Atlanta, Ga 30310
678.877.5763
chriscrob@gmail.com

Education

B.A. in Christian Ministry
Leavell College – 2008

Masters of Divinity
New Orleans Baptist
Theological Seminary – 2012

Content Marketing Certification
HubSpot Academy

Key Skills

Customer Service
Public Relations
Attention to Detail
Technologically Adept
Skilled Writer

References

[Available upon request.]

Experience

2015 – 2022

Director of Container Leasing • Container Technology, Inc
Managed sales, marketing, billing, customer service, and collections as the primary point of contact for a fleet of rental containers as it grew from 300 to 1,000 units, $30k to $120k monthly revenue.

2012 – 2015

Middle/High School English Instructor • Central Christian School
Tasks included preparing and teaching six lessons a day, maintaining positive relationships as well as audio and IT work.

2006 – 2012

Minister to Students • Northside Baptist Church
Tasks included public speaking, event planning, constructing and managing a budget.

2008 – 2012

Food Service Associate • Wesley Woods Senior Living

2004 – 2006

Veterinary Technician • Crossroads Animal Hospital

Additional Information

I write fiction for fun and those skills can translate into content generation. Writing is my passion and what I do best.

As a musician and a kayaker, I am equally comfortable on stage or in the water should the job require it.

I've served on the board of a non-profit with nearly 1,000 members as the communications director.